Deadline set for doctor's plea deal

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — A former Paintsville doctor has until Friday to finalize a possible plea deal in his federal drug case.

Dr. Rano Bofill's attorney filed a motion Jan. 28 asking for an extension of the deadline for attorneys to file a notice of "intent to enter his plea."

The court had previously set Jan. 17 as the deadline to file such a notice, the attorney, Mark S. Murphy of Louisville, said in the motion.

"As this deadline approached, the parties continued to negotiate the proposed plea agreement and negotiations are nearly complete," Murphy's motion said. "A brief extension should provide the time for the parties to reach a final agreement on the specifics of the proposed plea agreement."

U.S. Magistrate Judge Edward B. Atkins granted the motion and set the new deadline for Feb. 7.

Bofill was a doctor at the now-closed Care More Pain Management, which was owned by Tammy Cantrell and Shelby Lackey. All three were indicted in September 2012 on federal charges of conspiring to distribute and unlawfully dis-

Report: Most students not prepared for kindergarten

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

FRANKFORT — Most students entering kindergarten in Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd and Martin counties were not prepared for their work, according to a report released last week.

The results of the first statewide implementation of the common Kindergarten Readiness Screener show that 51 percent of children statewide who entered kindergarten were not ready for their work.

In the Big Sandy region, most kindergarten students in the Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd and Martin school districts were unprepared, while the majority of students in the Paintsville Independent district were prepared, the results show.

In the Lawrence County district, 65.4 percent of kindergarten students were unprepared.

A breakdown of individual schools shows that 68.8 percent of kindergarten students at Blaine Elementary, 70.5 percent at Fallsburg Elementary and 63.2 percent at Louisa West were not prepared for their work.

The statistics show that 55.8 percent of students in the Johnson County School District were unprepared, although the majority of kindergartners at three schools were ready for their work — 53.7 percent at Highland Elementary, 52.4 percent at Porter Elementary and 51 percent at W.R. Castle.

The report says that 67.6 percent of the students at Central Elementary, 59.6 percent at Flat Gap Elementary and 87.5 percent at Meade Memorial TUTOR KEY — The Big Sandy region is mourning the loss of a well-respected Johnson County man who died Thursday, Jan. 30.

Danny Thomas VanHoose of Tutor Key had been the marketing director at Appalachian Wireless since April 1999. He was 49.

VanHoose also served on numerous boards, including multiple terms as chairman on the Southeast Chamber of Commerce, formerly the Pike County Chamber of Commerce, from 1997-1998, 2008-2009; 2012-2013 and 2013-2014, as well as the University of Pikeville Board of Trustees and the East Kentucky Expo Center Board, always striving to bring the region together and grow.

Out of respect, Appalachian Wireless closed its Ivel office Monday so employees could attend the funeral and to mourn the loss of their co-worker and reopened at 3 p.m.

VanHoose is survived by his wife, Wendi Johnson VanHoose, who is director of Paintsville Tourism, and two sons, Eric Scott VanHoose and Jacob Lathan Chaney; and his father, Harry Thomas VanHoose.

Martin Co. court holds meeting

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

INEZ - Martin County Soil Conservation District representative Tom Dials updated the Martin County Fiscal Court Thursday on activities that the district has been involved with, and the court accepted the budgets for the clerk's and sheriff's offices.

During his presentation, Dials talked about a breakfast the district held for principals throughout the county at which they educated them on the benefits of arts and writing programs and Envirothon.

"Each student in the county is provided with an informational tabloid to help with an arts and writing contest," Dials said. "Tierra Whitt, a junior at Sheldon Clark High School, won at the state level in the Essay contest placing first out of the 17 counties that make up Area 8 and will be attending the awards ceremony in Frankfort on Feb. 27. In every elementary school, we've had 100 percent participation, and this year, the high school participated and Whitt won."

Dials talked about the arts and writing contest awards banquet, saying this was the largest turnout the district had seen and that certificates, trophies, plaques and T-shirts were given out as well as cash awards to the teachers of the winning students and to the schools with 100 percent participation.

Dials also talked about the King Fisher Trail, where the district tries to have two or three activities a year, and said they contribute $500 to help with the upkeep.

Dials also said the district provides annual donations to the Retired Teachers Memorial, project graduation and the Martin County Public Library Summer Reading program, participate in the October Harvest Festival, the seedling program, provides cross-bow herbicide free to the public, participate in the winter wheat program, provide wildlife seed, provide state cost share information to the public and participate in career day, earth day and open house for all the schools.

The conservation district is also involved with a conservation education program for the county's fourth grade students, maintains a good working relationship with the Natural Resource Conservation Service, and also works with the UK Extension Office providing a seminar for farmers and the public on no-till farming. Pollination and state and federal programs are also available, he said.

Dials also told the court that the conservation district is interested in a program called Fire Wise and that they are also interested in recycling.

"We applied for a $7,500 grant, but we got turned down and we are going to apply for it again," Dials said. "Lawrence County has a program, and we're going to go down and look at it. We would like to have them establish them at the dump stations and for that, we are looking at $10,000-$15,000 a box."

"We travel to conferences and we hear what goes on across the state," Martin County Judge Executive Kelly Callahan said. "You are doing a great job."

Martin County sheriff's office deputy Dacia Preece Sweeney presented the sheriff's 2014 budget, and County Clerk Carol Sue Mills presented the court with a copy of what she said would be her last budget before leaving office.

Mills decided not to run for re-election and won't be in office when the next budget is presented.

Court members unanimously accepted both budgets.

Callahan said after a rebid to award the Warfield Sewer project because the last bids were well above what had been allocated that the bids were going to Codell Construction and to USRC on the lines.

A motion approving the award was made by District 5 Magistrate Victor Slone and seconded by District 2 Magistrate Gary Hunt, with all in favor.

The court also approved a resolution to apply for additional funds for an overrun on the sewer infrastructure project in the amount of $200,000 and to authorize Callahan to execute the necessary documents.

The motion was made by Slone and seconded by District 3 Magistrate Darrell Mills, with all in favor.

Court members also approved a Homeland Security resolution that will allow the Martin County Sheriff's Office to apply for a grant to provide equipment in his office.

The motion approving the resolution was made by Hunt and seconded by Slone, with all in favor.

Court members also approved the acceptance of minutes from previous court meetings and the financials, which included transfers, before adjourning.

Elementary were not prepared for their work.

In the Paintsville Independent district, 63.3 percent of kindergarten students at Paintsville Elementary were prepared, according to the report.

The percentage of unprepared kindergarten students in the Floyd County district was 51.8, although 57.1 percent at Stumbo Elementary, 52.3 percent at May Valley, 77.5 percent at McDowell Elementary and 61.5 percent at Prestonsburg Elementary were prepared.

The report shows that 88 percent of kindergarten students at Allen Elementary, 57.1 percent at Duff Elementary and 73.8 percent at Osborne Elementary were not ready for their work.

In the Martin County School District, 58.4 percent of students were unprepared, but 58.6 percent of Inez Elementary kindergartners were prepared, according to the report.

The statistics show that 64.2 percent of students at Eden Elementary and 68.3 percent at Warfield Elementary were unprepared.

Teachers administered the BRIGANCE K Screener to 50,532 kindergarten students in all 173 school districts at the beginning of the 2013-14 school year. The screener measures how well a child is prepared to succeed at the time the screener is administered. Students are asked their name and age, to recite the alphabet and count to 30, among other tasks.

The common kindergarten screener, as outlined in 704 KAR 5:070, provides teachers with key information early in the school year that they can use to guide instruction to meet the individual needs of all students. The screener is aligned with both Kentucky's school readiness key definition and Kentucky's early childhood standards.

As part of the kindergarten screener, parents were also asked to fill out a survey about what type of setting the child was in the year before starting kindergarten, along with several other things. The questionnaire did not distinguish whether the program was a half-day or full-day program, or the duration a child spent in a particular setting.

"From day one, these students may be at a disadvantage; they are behind, and some lack the foundational skills on which to build," Gov. Steve Beshear said in announcing the results Thursday. "Too often, they don't catch up with their peers. As a result, these students may face years of poor grades and negative school experiences that usually only end when they drop out or graduate from high school unprepared for college or career."

The kindergarten readiness screener data is available in the supplemental data section of the Kentucky Department of Education's Open House Web site and will be added to the school report card in the fall.

ty, Webb and six officers at the detention center, claiming that Joey Griffith was "subjected to Defendants' deliberate indifference to his medical needs and, as a consequence, died" on Jan. 28.

Griffith, a diabetic, was incarcerated in the jail on Jan. 19 and taken to Highlands Regional Medical Center on Jan. 23 for "reasons that at present are unknown," according to the suit, filed June 20, 2013.

"Hospital records suggest, however, that Mr. Griffith may have been complaining of chest pains, shortness of breath, and/or nausea and/or vomiting, which are symptoms of diabetic ketoacidosis, a potentially life-threatening complication of diabetes attributable to a lack of insulin," the suit said. "Mr. Griffith's discharge instructions from the hospital directed that he be given 25 units of Lantus once a day at bedtime, that he be given five units of Humalog three times a day before meals, and that he be brought back to the hospital in the event his symptoms or condition worsened."

Griffith's condition deteriorated following his treatment at the hospital from Jan. 24 to Jan. 28, the suit alleges, and the hospital's "simple, direct, written discharge orders were not followed" at the jail, which resulted in his death.

In their third-party complaint, Floyd County and the other plaintiffs, who have denied the allegations in the initial lawsuit, claim that Hess "exhibited a negligent, reckless, wanton and careless disregard" for Griffith that "resulted in injuries" to him and "caused or substantially contributed" to his death.

Editor's note: A lawsuit presents only the plaintiff's cause for action.

HOPE WALL

“WHEN YOU SEE all these people who have battled substance abuse and are now in recovery it makes everything worthwhile,” Magoffin County Sheriff Carson Montgomery said Friday, glancing at the UNITE Hope Wall now on display at the Magoffin County Judicial Center. Montgomery was joined Friday, January 31, by 36th Judicial Circuit Court Judge Kim Childers, UNITE President/CEO Dan Smoot and local Drug Court officials as the Hope Wall was set up. The wall – celebrating a person’s ability to overcome an addiction – will remain on display through Friday morning, Feb. 14. Anyone who has been in recovery for at least 18 months is eligible to be featured on the wall. For more information contact the UNITE office at 606-330-1400 or visit www.operationunite.org. LAWRENCE COUNTIAN KELSIE May is set to release her first professional music video on Valentine's Day. The 14-year-old aspiring singer has already released her first single and is working on her first album.

Lawrence girl to release music video

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

LOUISA — A 14-year-old Lawrence County girl is well on her way to fulfilling her dream of becoming a country music star and is scheduled to release her first professional video on none other than Valentine's Day.

Kelsie May, who will turn 15 on Feb. 9, has already released a single, is working on her first album that should be ready for release in the spring and will debut her first professional video on Feb. 14.

May's father, Roy May, said he is excited about the video and that her career is just simply blossoming.

"The video featured her song 'Young Love' and was shot at Blackman High School in Tennessee. It's one of the largest schools in Tennessee, with about 3,000 students, and there were like 30 people involved, including the stand-ins," Roy said. "She is scheduled to do a pre-release of the video at the Huntington Mall on the same day and will be performing about a 45-minute free show leading up to the video. She is also working on some more songs for an album that should be ready for release late spring. Three of the songs are some that people have heard, but the others are new."

Roy May said that a country group, Thompson Square, did a video the day after his daughter.

"It is so professional and Bernard Porter (PCG Nashville) is the executive producer. Patrick Tohill and Britton Cameron are both co-producers," he said. "We are on our way back home right now so she can get herself ready for a show at the Wheeling Jamboree, which is the Grand Ole Opry of West Virginia and it's by invitation only. She is scheduled to perform there Saturday. There will be other performers, but she will probably be performing for about 30-40 minutes. She has had a lot of interest from a lot of big people and even received a private invitation for America's Got Talent, but she turned it down because she had already made an agreement to perform at a charity event for the Make a Wish Foundation. We wrote them a letter explaining why she couldn't make it and they said they are still interested."

He said his daughter has three more demos recorded but that they are saving them for the album to be released in spring.

"We are also working on putting her a press kit together and getting her a professional bio put together because of the interest she generated lately," he said. "Everything just seems to be moving along so fast and she will just be turning 15 on her birthday."

May also said that he signed his daughter up for a contest on reverbnation.com and that she is currently ranked among the top ten out of thousands, which if she won could mean a professional video.

Shortly after Kelsie May turned 14, she signed with Lyrick Promotions, LTD, and PCG Nashville.

Federal grant awarded to KET

FRANKFORT — Gov. Steve Beshear and U.S. Rep. Harold "Hal" Rogers last week announced a nearly $358,000 federal grant to upgrade four Kentucky Educational Television transmitters in Southeastern and Eastern Kentucky with digital microwave communication systems.

The funding will replace 20 analog microwave communication systems with digital systems to connect the KET Network Center to WKSO in Somerset, WKMR in Morehead, WKHA in Hazard and WKPI in Pikeville. The digital equipment will enhance KET's ability to serve its viewers in these rural areas of the state with better, more reliable access to KET's educational programs and services.

"We continue to receive funding and support for education and economic development tools that will help us transform this region of our state," said Beshear. "These digital upgrades allow the four stations to strengthen communications within their communities and to increase access to critical educational programming."

"Upgrading our digital infrastructure is a vital part of our future, and this investment in Eastern Kentucky stations will help in 'Shaping Our Appalachian Region,'" said Rogers. "Together with the upcoming expansion of high-speed, high-capacity broadband in our region, we can launch into the world market where digital access provides new opportunities for families, business, healthcare and education."

The federal funding is part of the Public Television Digital Transition Grant program through USDA Rural Development. The USDA awarded grants totaling more than $2.5 million to Kentucky, Alaska, Idaho, New Mexico, Puerto Rico and West Virginia.

The Kentucky Authority for Educational Television, KET's governing board, received the $357,700 grant to upgrade its affiliate stations.

According to the USDA Rural Development, the overall funding will assist "public television stations serving substantially rural communities make the transition to digital broadcasts."

STEPS TO HELP SAVE ON YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

It happens every winter. Customers open their electricity bills and see higher-than-expected amounts due. While increasing energy costs are, unfortunately, becoming a bigger part of daily living, there are some actions you can take to reduce and control your electricity costs. First, remember you only pay for what you use. Any steps you take to reduce your electricity usage will save you money. The following are some energy and cost savings tips.

- Set your thermostat between 66-72 degrees
- Turn lights off when you leave a room; don't use lamps and overhead lights unnecessarily
- If you are not watching TV, leave the set off
- Install energy efficient light bulbs such as compact fluorescent bulbs (or CFLs)
- Properly insulate your home, windows and water heater
- Unplug cell phone chargers and other recharging/transformer devices when not in use

Annual symposium set for February 25

PRESTONSBURG — The 15th annual Big Sandy Women's Business Symposium will be Tuesday, Feb. 25, at the Wilkinson-Stumbo Convention Center in Prestonsburg.

The theme of the conference is "See, Believe, Do" and will feature two keynote speakers. The morning address, "Pursuing a Dream," will be delivered by for Miss Kentucky 2012 Jessica Casebolt, and motivational speaker Kelly Swanson will present the afternoon address, "See, Believe, Do."

Jessica Casebolt

From the stage to the classroom and beyond, Casebolt serves as a volunteer, a performer, a student, and a leader. She is working across Kentucky to change the medical landscape of heart disease and is working to provide opportunities and assistance to others. Her experience as Miss Kentucky 2012 and the years preceding it have been characterized by service. These years have been full of school visits, free clinics, charity, runway shows, concerts, sports tournaments, toy drives, and much more. Throughout her term, Casebolt was able to reach out to over 55,000 students along with numerous adult service groups, legislators, underprivileged and hospitalized individuals, business leaders and peers. Casebolt graduated from Pikeville High School in 2011 and is currently an undergraduate student at Eastern Kentucky University.

Swanson is an award-winning storyteller, comedian, motivational speaker, and PAINTSVILLE — The Johnson County Public Library, together with Kentucky Chautauqua, will present "Mark Twain: American Icon" at the library Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 6 p.m.

Born Nov. 30, 1835, in Florida, Missouri, Twain (originally named Samuel Clemens) penned several novels including two major classics of American literature, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" and "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." He was also a riverboat pilot, humorist, lecturer, journalist, publisher and inventor. His mother, Jane Lampton, was born in Adair County, where she met Clemens' father, who was clerking at a law office in Columbia. They married and spent two years living in Columbia author of "Who Hijacked My Fairy Tale?" Our State Magazine calls her one of North Carolina's funniest women.

"Her shows have charmed audiences from coast to coast, from convention halls to cruise ships," a press release said. "Her hilarious stories about life as a business woman, wife, and mother will make you laugh yourself silly."

Entertainment for this year's symposium will be provided by 2013 Country Music Highway Road to Fame winner Holly Vival Thompson. Thompson, the 19-year-old daughter of Neal and Gina Thompson of Wayland, is currently a student at Big Sandy Community and Technical College.

The cost of the symposium is $25, which includes all workshops and meals. All women are invited to attend the symposium, presented by Morehead State University's East Kentucky Small Business Development Center.

Registration, breakfast and exhibits will run from 8:30-9:15 a.m. Welcoming remarks from emcee Jill Fraley Dotson will follow. Casebolt will begin her morning keynote at 9:30 a.m.

Holly Thompson

A breakout session will be held from 10:15-11:15 a.m. Lunch will begin at 11:30 a.m. and entertainment will begin at noon.

The afternoon address by Swanson will begin at 12:45 p.m. The symposium will conclude at 2:30 p.m., following closing remarks and door prize drawings.

This event is funded in part through a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Small Business Administration. Reasonable accommodations for persons with disabilities will be made, if requested at least two weeks in advance.

Judge's laptop ruling challenges the Constitution — and your privacy

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

It's pretty obvious that we as a society are now made up of two groups. There are those who, for better or worse, have moved their lives into the digital realm, and those who haven't.

I would like to introduce you to someone in the latter category. His name is Edward Korman and he is a federal judge in New York state. He had a case before him involving a U.S. citizen — a Ph.D. student at McGill University in Montreal — who had his computer confiscated while returning to the States. The judge ruled, sweepingly, that, yes, the federal government had a right to confiscate laptops at the border without probable cause.

In other words: You are traveling overseas, with your laptop, tablet or smartphone. As you re-enter the United States, a federal official, for any reason or none, can take it away from you and look through it, and there's nothing you can do about it.

Here's what I have on my laptop. Years of email. Private conversations from close friends about personal matters, some of them tragic, heart-wrenching, and life-changing, and similar messages from my husband. There are thousands of family photos, 99.9 percent of which I would prefer to be private. There is medical information about me and my family. I have business plans that are the culmination of years of work and affect my family's current and future livelihood.

Something else is there as well — something more intimate. What's on my laptop is a reflection of my mind — the unadorned evidence, good and bad, flattering and embarrassing, of my victories and pratfalls, my joys and losses, my most elated moments and deepest thoughts. It's me.

Either you live in a world in which this extension of your very consciousness — and your constant access to it — is an inextricable part of your life, or you don't. You either appreciate that a laptop is a costly and delicate instrument you'd just as soon not be cavalierly tossed around by a TSA employee, or you do not. And you recoil at the thought of strangers pawing through that information on a whim, with trivial legal oversight, or you do not.

The taking of a laptop today is a striking act of confiscation almost without an equivalent 25 years ago. Back then, it would have taken a team of FBI agents days if not weeks to so comprehensively vacuum up a single American's health, business, financial and personal information, not to mention that of so many of his or her friends, family members, and business associates.

Today, Nosy McPatterson, your local TSA staffer, or Roscoe the border agent who got up on the wrong side of the bed that morning, can accomplish the same feat, and in an instant. They can paw through your photos and email during their lunch hour. And anyone present with a 13-year-old's understanding of computing can easily and unnoticeably make a quick copy of it onto a device that slips easily into a pants pocket.

TWAIN:

before moving to Tennessee and eventually to Missouri.

With his gift for storytelling and developing unique and interesting characters, Twain single-handedly put American literature on the map. He lived many lifetimes in one, traveled much and entertained many with his particular sense of humor. But that humor was borne on the back of great sorrow and many personal tragedies.

Robert Brock portrays Twain for Kentucky Chautauqua. Brock is an assistant professor of theatre at Lindsey Wilson College. He recently served as the artistic director at Kentucky Repertory Theatre in Horse Cave. Prior to that, he served as the theatre's education director for four years. He has worked with Actor's Theatre of Louisville, the Folger Theatre Group, the Fulton Opera House and Off-Broadway. He received a master of fine arts degree in acting from Wayne State University in Detroit, Mich., and a bachelor of arts in theatre from the University of Kentucky. He has worked closely with the Governor's School of the Arts, teaching audition workshops and helping with the selection process. He also teaches part-time for Western Kentucky University's Glasgow campus. Brock's Kentucky Chautauqua portrayal of Billy Herndon, Abraham Lincoln's law partner, has been performed across Kentucky and in the Kentucky Humanities Council's production of "Our Lincoln" at the John F. Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

Kentucky Chautauqua is an exclusive presentation of the Kentucky Humanities Council, Inc., with support from the National Endowment for the Humanities and from: Christina Lee Brown, the Brown-Forman Corporation, the Cralle Foundation, the Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels, Lindsey Wilson College, Morehead State University, Murray State University, Northern Kentucky University, PNC Bank in Lexington, Scripps Howard Foundation, Toyota Motor Manufacturing North America, Inc., Union College, WCPO-TV, and Western Kentucky University.

The Kentucky Humanities Council is a non-profit Kentucky corporation affiliated with the National Endowment for the Humanities. It is a not a state agency, but is a proud partner in Kentucky's Tourism, Arts and Heritage Cabinet. For information, visit www.kyhumanities.org or call 859-257-5932.

JUDGE:

Judge Korman says it doesn't happen very often, though there's evidence he's wrong. I don't think it should happen at all.

It was odd – there's surprisingly little talk about the ruling online. (It came down on New Year's Eve afternoon.) The more you read, the weirder the rules are. The so-called "border exemption" extends 100 miles inland from the border. That includes the population of the Eastern Seaboard, Miami, Houston, the west coast, and Chicago.

I wanted to find a smart legal mind who'd considered the issue. I finally found someone who had. He came up with a simple encapsulation to prevent this sort of intrusion into our private lives for no reason. It went like this:

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

That's the Fourth Amendment, of course. The writer was a guy named James Madison, with help from a few friends. Judge Korman, I am quite sure, isn't the sort to carry his life around in his laptop. It's OK that he doesn't. The ironic thing about his ruling is that while initially I thought it encapsulated a division between people who live in the past (the judge) and the future (me and I assume you), but it's obvious this issue was well-debated – and from our point of view, resolved – by some smart people a very long time ago.

In the end, Judge Korman is the one with a different vision for the future. As a professional, mother, friend and citizen, I really don't like the looks of it.

COMMONWEALTH OF KENTUCKY CITY OF LOUISA ORDINANCE 14-01

At meetings held on January 30, 2014, and February 1, 2014, the governing body of the City of Louisa, Kentucky adopted the following Ordinance:

ORDINANCE SUMMARY PURSUANT TO KRS 83A.060 OF ORDINANCE 14-01 APPROVING A LEASE FOR THE FINANCING OF A PROJECT; PROVIDING FOR THE PAYMENT AND SECURITY OF THE LEASE; CREATING A SINKING FUND; AND AUTHORIZING THE EXECUTION OF VARIOUS DOCUMENTS RELATED TO SUCH LEASE

I, Eldred E. Adams, Jr., an attorney licensed to practice law in the Commonwealth of Kentucky, hereby certify that the foregoing ordinance provides for approval of a lease with Kentucky Bond Corporation for financing certain public improvements and provides a general obligation pledge to assess sufficient taxes to comply with the obligations to pay lease payments. The full text of the section relating to the pledge to levy and assess a tax to pay the lease obligation is:

SECTION 2. General Obligation Pledge. Pursuant to the Constitution of the Commonwealth and Chapter 66 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, as amended [the "General Obligation Statutes"], the obligation of the Lessee created by the Lease shall be a full general obligation of the Lessee and, for the prompt payment of the Lease Payments, the full faith, credit and revenue of the Lessee are hereby pledged. During the period the Lease is outstanding, there shall be and there hereby is levied on all the taxable property in the Lessee, in addition to all other taxes, without limitation as to rate, a direct tax annually in an amount sufficient to pay the Lease Payments on the Lease when and as due, it being hereby found and determined that current tax rates are within all applicable limitations. Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers and in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof; provided, however, that in each year to the extent that the other taxes of the Lessee are available for the payment of the Lease Payments and are appropriated for such purpose, the amount of such direct tax upon all of the taxable property in the Lessee shall be reduced by the amount of such other taxes so available and appropriated.

There is hereby established, or it is acknowledged that there has heretofore been established, with the Lessee a sinking fund [the "Sinking Fund"]. These funds derived from said tax levy hereby required or other available taxes shall be placed in the Sinking Fund and, together with interest collected on the same, are irrevocably pledged for the payment of all obligations issued under the General Obligation Statutes and all Tax Supported Leases, as the same fall due. Amounts shall be transferred from the Sinking Fund to the Lessor at the times and in the amounts required by the Lease.

A copy of the full text of the Amended Ordinance is available for inspection at the Louisa City Hall, 215 North Lock Avenue, Louisa, Kentucky during normal business hours from 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Bulldogs edge Paintsville 50-49

PAINTSVILLE — The Lawrence County Bulldogs wouldn't be denied on Friday night.

Playing on the road, Lawrence County held on to edge host Paintsville 50-49 in a 57th District boys' basketball matchup.

In the end, Lawrence County sank free throws and district rival Paintsville couldn't covert when needed at the charity stripe.

Sophomore guard Brandon Richardson led Lawrence County with 14 points. Richardson drained a 3-point field goal with two minutes remaining to push Lawrence County out to a five-point lead.

Grant Kiser, who hit two free throws to put Lawrence County ahead 50-48, finished with 12 points as two Bulldogs reached double figures in the scoring column.

The two district foes swapped leads throughout the contest. After Paintsville led 16-14 at the end of the first quarter, Lawrence County owned a 13-10 scoring advantage in the second period to take a slim 27-26 lead into halftime.

The Bulldogs led 40-38 at the end of the third quarter.

Timmy Dalton and Austin Chaffins scored seven points apiece for Lawrence County in the win. Robert Dalton scored five points, Josh Ratliff tossed in three and Shawn Moore contributed two for the Bulldogs.

Lawrence County shot just over 50 percent from the foul line, finishing nine-for-19.

Sophomore guard Luke Trimble and junior forward Quinton Hensley led Paintsville with 12 points apiece. Thomas Litteral (seven points), Luke Daniels (six points), Zach Collins (six points), Peyton Smith (two points), Prater Helton (two points) and Lane Daniels (two points) also landed in the Tigers' scoring column.

Paintsville shot 50 percent (seven of 14) from the foul line.

Lady Bulldogs post back-to-back wins

LOUISA — The Lawrence County Lady Bulldogs claimed back-to-back wins last week, defeating 15th Region rival Prestonsburg and Lee County, a team from the neighboring 14th Region.

Lawrence County, under the guidance of first-year head coach Melinda Feltner, snapped a two-game losing streak Wednesday, Jan. 29, defeating visiting Prestonsburg 55-46 in a non-district matchup.

First-year head coach Brandon Gearheart is at the helm of the Prestonsburg girls' basketball program.

Prior to notching the win over Prestonsburg, Lawrence County had suffered back-to-back losses to 57th District rivals Johnson Central and Magoffin County.

The Lady Bulldogs venture to West Liberty for a game against Lee County in the Morgan County Lady Cougar Shoot-Out on Saturday. Lawrence County managed to claim its second straight win. The Lady Bulldogs dominated, defeating Lee County 64-35.

In other games played as part of the Morgan County Lady Cougar Shoot-Out it was Morgan County 54, Pike County Central 23; East Carter 62, Powell County 49 and Menifee County 54, Sheldon Clark 50.

Following the win over Lee County, Lawrence County improved to 8-12 overall.

FRANKFORT — Paintsville had the tough task of facing Northern Kentucky powerhouse Newport Central Catholic in the opening round of the Girls' Touchstone Energy All "A" Classic Wednesday.

Newport Central Catholic took early control in the small-school statewide tournament game, eventually pulling away to beat Paintsville 56-26.

Senior forward Nicole Kiernan, a Miss Basketball finalist, led Newport Central Catholic with 13 points and six rebounds.

Kiernan was the only Newport Central Catholic player to reach double figures in the scoring column but her supporting cast was strong. Michaela Ware and Stephanie Lewis scored seven points each and Loren Zimmerman and Sarah Neace netted six apiece for the Newport Central Catholic girls' basketball team.

The Thoroughbreds dominated inside, outrebounding Paintsville (11-7) 33-17.

After opening the game on a 27-3 run in the first quarter, Newport Central Catholic led 47-11 at halftime and 51-17 through three quarters.

Junior forward Anna Claire Rice led Paintsville with 11 points. Rice was the only Paintsville player to reach double figures in the scoring column. Following Rice, eighth-grade guard/forward Presley Chirico added eight points for Paintsville in the loss.

Lady Tiger Kerrigan Sammons, a starter, left the game with a leg injury in the first half.

With the loss, Paintsville slipped to 12-7.

Breathitt Co. outlasts Eagles in Showcase

JACKSON — Breathitt County knocked off a 15th Region powerhouse for the second straight day Saturday, defeating reigning 15th Region champion Johnson Central 65-60 in the Appalachian Wireless Kentucky Prep Showcase.

With the win, Breathitt County improved to 14-4.

As a result of the loss, Johnson Central slipped to 12-6.

Breathitt County posted its third straight win while Johnson Central had an eight-game winning streak snapped.

Two-time defending 15th Region champion Johnson Central played without Marshall University signee Shane Hall for the second straight game. Hall is one of seven finalists for this year's Kentucky Mr. Basketball Award.

Three Breathitt County scorers reached double figures. Senior guard Wes Noble led Breathitt County with a game-high 25 points. Junior center

Bulldogs battle back for win over Magoffin County

LOUISA — Lawrence County overcame a 3-point shooting barrage to beat visiting 57th District counterpart Magoffin County 78-73 Tuesday night, Jan. 28.

Magoffin County connected on 11 3-point field goals in the loss.

Saving its best for last, host Lawrence County scored 31 points in the fourth quarter to negate a seven-point deficit.

Sophomore guard Robert Dalton scored a game-high 22 points for Lawrence County in the district win. Timmy Dalton had 19 points, Austin Chaffins 18 and Brandon Richardson 14 for the Bulldogs.

The Lawrence County and Magoffin County boys' basketball teams swapped leads in each quarter. Magoffin County edged the Bulldogs 15-14 in the opening quarter but faced a two-point deficit (35-33) at intermission.

Magoffin County, however, used a 21-12 run in the third quarter to move back out in front.

In one of the most explosive quarters in the program history, Lawrence County outscored Magoffin County 31-19 in the fourth quarter to pull away for the win.

Lawrence County was 23 of 30 from the foul line.

Grant Kiser rounded out the Lawrence County individual scoring, exiting the court with five points.

Jeffery Bolen led Magoffin County with 21 points. Jaren Lovely added 19, Cory Pitts pushed in 16 and Trenton Russell posted for the Hornets, who were six of eight from the foul line.

With the win, Lawrence County recorded a regular-season sweep over Magoffin County.
